ALLIANCE: Smart Triple

Does your farming operation introduce stock to the property?

If so, there is a high risk they will bring in resistant worms. Don't leave anything to chance. Use a triple combination to quarantine drench all stock coming onto the property before they leave the yards.

New ALLIANCE™, with three actives in combination, provides unsurpassed efficacy and is the best approach for border protection and drench resistance management.

It is effective against worms with single or dual resistance to any of the main drench families.

Being low-dose ALLIANCE gets lambs off to a great start, plus there is the convenience of more doses per pack. As an added advantage it aids in selenium and cobalt supplementation. You can also use ALLIANCE for cattle too.

If you are serious about drench resistance and want peace of mind choose new ALLIANCE to minimise risk and maximise productivity.
